We all miss it sometimes courage in male-female relationships. Sometimes we feel too unattractive, which in turn blocks us and makes us reluctant to start a conversation with the person we are interested in. Stop the stress of meeting new people, use the power of pheromones!

Love&Desire - the most popular on the market!

Love&Desire pheromones are happy huge popularity, both among customers as well as reputable ones pickup coaches! They gained their popularity thanks to their incredible effectiveness. Pheromones have been designed in such a way that they can be used like regular perfumes. In addition to pheromones in the composition, they also have attractive and exciting fragrance note!

How do Love & Desire pheromones work?

Pheromones and perfumes with their addition act naturally, invisibly, subconsciously.

Perfumes with pheromones are for you if you want:

The scent of Love & Desire itself is very feminine, sexy and hypnotizing, while pheromones have no smell and are not noticeable to you or to third parties. When using perfumes with pheromones, you no longer have to use other scents.

- make new friends
- have better contact with people you often spend time with, e.g. at work
- flirt casually
- meet your other half

Have you ever wondered what it's like that some people are perceived as attractive and charismaticand, and others - objectively endowed with no less beauty, do not evoke such feelings? Of course, thanks to pheromones!

Pheromones do not have a scent, but they subconsciously influence the perception of our person. A person who senses the right pheromones perceives us as better than others, trustworthy and more attractive. Love & Desire pheromones based on many ingredients are used with excellent results by, among others, businesswomen. Women working in the trade industry who use Love & Desire have noticed a significant increase in sales of their products. In turn, waitresses, for example, clearly felt that they received more tips after using Love & Desire pheromones.

Why are Love&Desire the best pheromones for women?

Love & Desire is the most effective pheromones. This is confirmed by the opinions of our customers. Moreover, these pheromones were recognized as the best product in the "most attractive scent" category.

The effectiveness of Love & Desire is based on years of work and experience over the composition of the pheromone mixture. This amazing recipe affects the subconscious, mind and mood, creating an atmosphere conducive to establishing close relationships. Anyone who tries this fragrance once will immediately feel that they become the master of the situation and the object of desire. Pheromones work immediately after application. You will be amazed at the results. So let yourself be surprised and change your life.

Love & Desire - an original, extremely effective mixture of 4 pheromones

Most commercially available pheromones are based on chemical compounds: androstenol and androstenone. Love & Desire pheromones are the only ones that contain two more important ingredients: copulins and estratetraenol. This formula was created specifically to provide you with maximum results.

You won't find such a formula on the market. Only our Love & Desire pheromones have a four-component, unique combination of ingredients.

• Androstenone This is a scent produced mainly by dominant women. This scent signals strength among members of the same sex. It serves women to attract men's attention and arouse their interest. Women in highly competitive conditions have a much higher level of this pheromone. Androstenone is also worth using if you want to gain more respect and dominance. The use of androstenone in Love&Desire particularly affects the success of men.

• Androsterone This is the most feminine of all ingredients. It causes the effect of dominance, but does not affect the effect of aggression, rather creating an aura of security. It naturally appears in calm females, the Alpha type.

• Copulins belongs to the group of female pheromones. It has an amazing effect of arousing interest among men, which makes it the most popular among women's pheromones. Astrid Jutte's study proved that Capulins regularly increases testosterone levels in men by a minimum of 150%. The effect of Copulonis has a comprehensive impact on the perception of women in the company of men. It quickly arouses excitement and physical attractiveness becomes secondary.

• Estratetraenol is considered a real female pheromone. Even in large doses, estratetraenol remains odorless. Despite the lack of smell, it activates the human brain in a specific way. Dominant men are particularly sensitive to the effects of estratetraenol. Small doses change mood and stimulate sexual activity. The action of each of these pheromones is supported by scientific research and is already widely known.
